Thank you Marlenny, the concern is noted. I will:

- remove the information blocks from the website and just work with the hospitals in my local area to continue the efforts.
- Hold off on revamping or doing any additional things until the case is resolved.

I appreciate the response and understanding.

Best,

Tan

Hi Tan, thank you for the clarification.

As you mentioned in your voicemail yesterday, you can see how the optics of the website may have caused us some concern. We understand that you are simply trying to give back and donate to hospitals in need, and that is great, in no way am I telling you not to give back. However, we don't think you need to solicit information from hospitals through your website, as it gives the impression that you are holding yourself out as a foundation. If you'd like, simply choose a hospital and donate what you would like, they are all in need these days. Given your pending charges, it would make sense to hold off any more work on this website/charitable foundations, you could also request permission from the court if you are so inclined.

Thank You.

Hi Marlenny,

Just left you a voicemail. Please give me a call at your earliest convenience so I can clarify further.

I have been overly cautious to remain in full compliance with court release conditions, and I'm just using the small amounts of money I'm earning from my pre-trial services approved jobs to donate and do my part to help our healthcare workers.

If it makes you/the court even the slightest bit uncomfortable, I will pause on my personal charitable acts until the legal case is resolved.

Hi Tan,

It was brought to my attention that you have updated your website and it now features a Covid-19 related initiative, which is soliciting information from healthcare providers concerning their needs for healthcare supplies. When we spoke about your website on 3/24/2020, you mentioned that the website listed old initiatives and that you were simply updating your online presence. Now it appears that that is no longer the case. Given the current pandemic, this is clearly a new initiative and raises some concerns related to your prohibitions of acting as a fiduciary and any from self-employment.

Please email me back and tell me what exactly you are doing with this initiative and what are you doing with the information received from medical providers? At this point, if you want to continue to work on these websites and these initiatives, we will likely have to involve the Court.

Thanks
